P.G.E. WINS RICHMOND GAS BATTLE

COMPANY TO BUILD LINE HERE

Through a decision of the state railroad commission yesterday, the Pacific Gas and Electric company is virtually assured of a "monopoly" on natural gas in the bay region.

The commission granted the P. G. and E. permission to install 20 inch natural gas mains from Fresno county to Richmond but denied the application of the Western Natural Gas company to install mains from the Kettleman Hills district to this city.

The decision granting permission to the P. G. and E. was unanimous but Commissioners Clyde L. Seavey and William J. Carr vigorously dissented, from that denying the application of the Western Natural Gas company. Both filed separate dissenting opinions, holding that the public and the P. G. and E. itself would benefit from granting the application of the Western Natural Gas company.

His Monopoly
Carr in dissenting from the majority decision, denying the application of Western Natural Gas company, said in part: "I am unable to join in the conclusion that the bringing of a natural resource like gas to the San Francisco bay area should be entrusted and confined to a single mandatory."

"The advent of natural gas to this region became inevitable with the opening up of the Kettleman Hills oil field. Its coming is a matter of vast importance. It means a better and a cheaper fuel for domestic and household uses and to industry a new fuel to (Continued on Page 8)

LINCOLN AVE. BID AWARDED

For the improvement of Lincoln avenue and a portion of Twenty-fourth street, the city council last night awarded the contract to the California Construction company at its bid of $40,201.

The other bids received were Central Construction company, $46,054, and Western Roads company, $43,332.50.

The improvement will consist of a four-inch broken rock cushion with a wearing surface of three inches of urite asphaltic concrete.

Grass Fire Perils Homes

MARTINEZ, Sept. 3.—Several acres of valuable pasture lands were destroyed and three homes in Franklin canyon were threatened when fire believed to have been started by a cigarette burned over the hills near the Duane ranch.

The flames were extinguished by neighboring ranchers, the Martinez fire department and telephone and electric employees.

UNEASY QUIET PREVAILING IN CHURCH WAR OF PALESTINE

TEL-AVIV, Palestine, Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—An "uneasy quietude" prevailed in Palestine tonight after British troops had put down the latest outbreak of fighting between Moslems and Jews.

Soldiers killed 12 out of 1000 Arabs who took part in the attack on police barracks at the settlement of Hittit, eight miles west of Tiberias.

Arabs also staged a second attack on the settlement of Telphoth last night and sustained severe losses when troops repulsed them.

Troops and aviators continued today their patrolling throughout the restless northern Palestine area. Soldiers are combing Arab villages for agitators and looters and continue to make many arrests. Large quantities of loot have been discovered in some villages.

British and French troops along the Syrian border have arranged an "air tight" defense to keep out any large number of Arab tribesmen who attempt to cross the frontier into Palestine.

It is believed here that the strong attitude of Sir John Robert Chancellor, British high commissioner, as shown in his proclamation, foreshadows establishment of a permanent British garrison in Palestine as well as increase in the police forces throughout the country.

That portion of the report dealing with the Parr Terminal corporation shows the city has a surplus of $16,535.78 and that the terminal corporation had withdrawn $5683.81 in excess of its share.

OFFICERS OF SAN JUAN DENY SAILOR PANIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—UP—Three officers of the steamer San Juan, which sank off the central California coast last week and carried more than 70 persons to their death, testified before federal steamboat inspectors here today that their ship went down in less than five minutes.

The session was quieter than expected because R. Papenfuss, only survivor who was on the bridge of the San Juan at the time of the disaster, was still confined to the hospital. Papenfuss may be able to tell Wednesday his version of maneuvers by the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd and his own ship just before the collision.

Three officers of the Dodd took the witness stand last Saturday to claim that the tragedy could have been averted if the San Juan had continued full speed ahead after the Dodd had signaled it was backing.

"Partly Responsible"
Charles J. Tulce, first mate of the San Juan admitted that reversal of the San Juan's engines (Continued on Page 8)

28 KILLED IN MANILA STORM

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 4.—(Wednesday)—(U.P.)—One of the worst typhoons in the history of the Philippine Islands, which was believed to have caused at least 28 deaths, narrowly missed devastating the city of Manila early today.

A range of mountains east of the city forced the hurricane winds to turn northward, spreading their path of destruction into new provinces.

Only nine sailors from a crew of 37 on the steamer Mayon were reported rescued after it had been wrecked south of here Tuesday. The survivors made their way to Pasacao.

Considerable damage was caused in the city by winds and torrential rains, but it did not approach what would have happened if the typhoon had not curved.

Great anxiety existed regarding the possible fate of many vessels. Provinces north and south of Manila suffered extensive property damage, meager reports received here over communication lines that were nearly completely broken said.

The American Red Cross and other organizations were preparing for relief activities.

Aviator Lost, Plane Burned

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—UP—The Aero corporation here was advised tonight from Needles, that the airplane in which Maj. P. Wood and Ward Miller set out on a non-stop flight to Cleveland, O., had been found 25 miles from Needles destroyed by fire.

Burrell Smith, one of the fliers who took off from here today to search for Wood after Miller had reported being thrown from the ship, said there was no sign of Wood near the wreckage.

Smith who is salesmanager of the Aero corporation said that members of the searching party examined the burned craft and could find nothing to indicate that Wood had been trapped. Smith expressed the opinion that Wood was wandering in the desert.

Four Towns Periled By Wisconsin Fires

SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—A dull red glow tinged the smoke filled skies of three northern Wisconsin counties tonight as 300 weary rangers looked on powerless to stop a raging forest fire which already had swept over 30,000 acres and threatened to leap across fire lines to other thick wooded timberlands.

Jack pine and stunted undergrowth, like tinder because of the driest August weather since 1873, fed the onrushing maw of the flames as they spread over forest, Oconto and Bayfield counties.

Four towns, Chautauque, Lakewood, Laona and Cranston were imperiled by the ever advancing flames, as they sent one great stand of timber after another crashing to the fire covered ground. Laona, entirely surrounded by timberland, faced the danger of being destroyed completely.

P. E. Percy, fire warden at Superior, where he is directing the futile efforts of his force of volunteer rangers, characterized the fire as the most serious he had ever seen. Seven separate fires were blackening timber in Lake county alone. The situation was almost as serious in the two other counties affected.

Percy said that unless a drenching rain fell, his men would be powerless to check the rush of the flames.

Weather forecasts predicted local showers and thunderstorms, however, and Percy was hopeful that the rangers aided by rain would be able to place a permanent boundary about the fire stricken area.

Experimental Bus Service Started

Installation of a new bus service between McBryde avenue and the Southern Pacific information station at the San Pablo creek bridge has been started by the Richmond Transit company.

23rd Street Light Contract Awarded

The V. G. Electric company of 1314 Macdonald avenue was awarded the contract by the city council last night for the installation of the electrolux system on Twenty-third street, from Macdonald avenue to the northerly city limits.

Five bids were opened by the council, and that of the local bidder was the lowest, $18,598.99. The other bids received were H. C. Reed & Company, $20,293, Western States Construction company, $22,229, City Improvement company, $20,404, and R. Flatland, $19,980.

The new system will consist of 43 iron standards, bearing two lights of 600 candle power each. All of the lights will burn until midnight, and from then on but one light on each standard will be lighted.

Avenue Lighting

There will be no additional lighting provided for Macdonald as the council denied the application for increased illumination.

The action of the council was taken on the basis of the replies received from property owners.

Letters were sent out to 206 property owners representing 373 lots. Sixteen owners representing 28 lots sent in replies in favor of more lights, while 59 owners representing 106 lots were opposed to the proposed improvement.

Thirty three owners representing 55 lots returned the letters stating they did not wish to sign either for or against the work. Most of the opposition came from owners of lots west of Sixth street.

Stamp Collector Has Graf Letters

C. S. Cain, Richmond druggist, has in his possession four letters that were carried by the Graf Zeppelin on its epochal flights. One letter made the around the world flight.

One of the letters made the trip across the continent from Los Angeles to Lakehurst, via Friedrichshafen, Tokio and Los Angeles and then was brought back to Richmond.

These letters will be placed on display at Conn's drug store by Cain and will also be shown at the session of the Richmond Stamp club to be held in the near future.

GERMANY IN WELCOME TO GRAF

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 4 (Wednesday) (U.P.)—The Graf Zeppelin arrived at its home port at 3:15 a. m. EST, establishing a new record for circling the globe.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—(U.P.)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin was flying over France this morning, approaching its home port of Friedrichshafen, Germany, with the assurance that only a forced landing could rob it of a new record for flight around the world.

The craft, if it continues the steady progress it was making as it passed over Bordeaux at 6:25 p. m. EST, will arrive at its home port amid a big welcome before three a. m. EST.

ANNEX STREET CONDITION HIT

"Councilman W. W. Scott brought to the attention of the city council last night the bad condition of the pavement on San Pablo avenue in El Cerrito, in front of the Richmond Annex. Scott said the shoulder of the pavement was in such condition that it was dangerous, and it was only a question of time, until some one ran off of it and wrecked his machine.

A peculiar condition exists by reason of the fact the entire street is in El Cerrito, and the property facing it is in Richmond.

Finally it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of City Manager J. A. McVittie and City Attorney T. M. Carlson, to confer with the El Cerrito officials, and see if some temporary repairs to the pavement could not be made.

Youth Fined On Peace Charge

Carl Nelson, 18, (colored), of 1517 Seventh street, Oakland, was fined $10 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace when he appeared in the court of Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday.

Nelson was arrested at East Shore park Monday, following an alleged fight with Frank Smith, 15 Antonio street, Richmond. Smith alleged that Nelson cut him with a pen knife during the fight.

Nelson alleged that Smith struck him several times before he retaliated. He declared that he had been cleaning his nails with his knife and that he forgot he had it in his hand when he struck Smith.

Hinkley Reports On Garage Request

Councilman A. B. Hinkley reported to the city council last night that he had inspected the property of E. O. Williams at Richmond and Santa Fe avenues, and did not see how a permit for garages could be given, unless the ceilings of the garages was plastered on metal lath, or with some other fire retardant material.

The upper part of the building is made up of flats.

Wanted: A New York Scolding-Place

EVERY woman with nerves—that is to say, EVERY woman—knows how it is—

There comes a morning when she's tired and oversteps and breakfast is late.

And her husband scowls and growls and criticizes the coffee.

And the children fuss about eating their cereal.

And all of them leave the house with a cross bang of the door.

And the telephone rings about ten times before she can finish the breakfast dishes.

And the ice man is so late in coming that she's afraid the cream will turn.

And the grocer brings her the wrong brand of olives and the vegetable man's corn isn't fresh picked.

And young men with silly questionnaires call her to the door and waste her time.

And the mail contains nothing but bills.

And it's hot and the loud speaker across the street is turned on full blast.

And, "taking one consideration with another," she's so weary and nervous and irritated and fed up with life in general.

That she simply doesn't know what to do!

What she is likely to do, unless she possesses superhuman self-control, is to sob or scold all over the house until she works off tension and feels better.

But, meanwhile, as she herself realizes when she comes to herself, it's been pretty hard on her husband and the children.

Like almost every other woman, we've been through this performance.

And that's why we pounced with such enthusiasm on the description of an Oriental method.

Of defusing domestic lighting—

A description of the Chinese device of a public scolding place for women. As contained in Louise Jordan Mill's new novel, "By Scolding Waters."

The scolding-place is simply a small platform erected on a street corner. Set back out of the way of the crowd, raised in so that its occupants can't fall off.

Up its steps climbs any woman, at any time, who has reached the state where nothing but a good scolding will relieve her mind.

There she stands, on the bamboo platform, and scolds, shouts, gesticulates to her heart's content.

Calling down wrath on all the things that have been vexing her.

And there even a more perfect safety valve devised.

For an infuriated female who wants to blow off steam?

Clearly and with a certain sympathetic approval, Miss Mill pictures Chinese women on the ramparts in their scolding-place.

"They are not doing any harm, and no one will do them any."

"They are just letting off steam, and it will do them all the good in the world."

"Probably neither of them has an idea who the other is."

"They are scolding quite independently."

"You see, when a Chinese woman is angry she must scold and scream."

"Or she would explode."

"Think what a nuisance such a termagant would be in a quiet home."

"Here they disturb no one."

"Probably no one who sees and hears it knows them."

"Certainly no one cares."

"They upset nothing here."

"In the narrow precinct of a peasant home such a row might be intolerable."

"So, when such a woman needs to let off steam—we all need a safety-valve sometimes—"

"She hits her to a convenient and recognized scolding-place."

"And lets off steam there."

"From time immemorial Chinese women have had entire liberty of speech."

"When such a woman as these has had a pot stolen."

"And has no other redress against the thief, doesn't know who stole the pot like as not candy sucker."

"When some neighbor has made a slighting comment about her favorite child.

"When a great wrong has been done her."

"Or a very trifling one that infuriates her."

"She goes to a scolding-place and tells the world about it."

"Cries her wrongs and her rage aloud to the world and to heaven."

"Sometimes three or four of them are up there together."

"That old lady sitting there munching melon seeds is waiting her turn."

"She wants the scolding-place all to herself."

"Women are like that sometimes."

"And it's not very unusual to see a woman or two waiting because there isn't room for them up there."

"Sometimes they just sit and wait, contentedly enough."

"But I've seen them sew while they waited for their turn."

"Seen them nursing a baby or shelling peas."

"A woman who comes to scold with a little baby in her arms."

"Often leaves it, safe enough, near the bottom of the ladder."

"Usually some obliging passer-by stops and picks it up."

"Squats down and holds it until its mother comes down."

"There are two great points in the Chinese custom—"

"The angry women do not disturb their own homes and families."

"And no one listens to them."

"If the West had her scolding-places, the West might be greatly improved."

"Personally, we're sure of it."

"We'd be delighted to have a scolding-place set up, for instance, in Times Square or Madison Square."

"To which the New York woman, exasperated beyond endurance, might resort."

"And scold off her wrath to the indifferent air and the equally indifferent crowd."

"And then climb down and go home, calmed and amiable like the Chinese women."

"Freud and the whole psycho-analytic school should approve of the invention."

"Which enables women to free themselves of their unhappy emotions instead of repressing them, and thus getting the wrong complexes."

"And, as we said, when a woman makes of her home a private scolding-place, she may free her mind and soothe her nerves, but it's awfully hard on the other members of the family."

"Maybe instead of nagging wives and cross mothers and women who are sure they are neither—"

"But who admit that they have their moments of justifiable indignation—"

"Maybe all the common acids would turn into domestic seraphs."

"If they had a right to rage in a public scolding-place."

"To climb up into one and 'shoot the works'."

"Cough if New York ever adopts such an idea of safety for the infuriated."

"Line will form on the left—and we'll be near the head of it!"

Household Hints

If you have a discolored aluminum saucepan cook rhubarb in it and you will find it bright and clean.

Patent leather can be cleaned with equal proportions of linseed oil and cream—olive oil and milk is also good fruit may be used—is sited or slightly mashed and sprinkled with powdered sugar. The fruit-meal is better in a warm than a cold mixture.

At serving time divide the prepared fruit among the six crisp shells and garnish with a spoon of whipped cream. Serve on a dolly covered plate with a fork.

Ripe peaches, pears, plums, any preserved or canned fruit drained of the excess syrup, or a fruit cream filling may be used in the crisp tart shells. Candied fruits, minced candied and nuts or delicately browned meringue may garnish the dainty sweet.

The frequent serving of fresh fruits at the family board is a dietary benefit, as well as a fair means of short-cutting meal preparation.

Late summer and early fall fruits require a minimum of effort for table use. White and purple grapes, Bartlett pears, peaches, red and pink plums and apricots are natural as a perfect accompaniment to the hearty dinner. Fresh fruit with a favorite cheese completes the simple meal to the queen's taste.

When the fruits of the orchard are desired in a more sophisticated service, the fruit tart comes to the fore. Baked tart shells filled at the moment of serving with prepared fruit and garnished with whipped cream, or accompanied by a small cup of soft custard, have a real gastronomical appeal.

FRESH FRUIT TARTS

Two cups prepared fruit
Powdered sugar to taste
Following times thirty minutes
Six baked tart shells
One cup whipped cream

The whipped cream is not necessary to this dainty party, except when the dinner is low in fat content, or when the taste demands it. Instead of whipped cream, a soft custard may be poured into the baked shells and the fruit arranged over it neatly. In fact, any variation of the recipe is sure to win table applause.

For the party favors the home mixed or purchased meringue may be used. In summer when culinary ambition is sluggish, the latter will prove highly helpful. To the contents of a

STUDENT AID PLANS TOLD BY P. T. A. HEAD

The following plan has been drawn up for Student Aid by the Richmond Council of Parent-Teachers association.

Each Parent-Teachers association will handle its own student aid work so far as is possible. All money will be raised for such purpose by any Parent-Teacher association and spent by that association. If the cases exceed the amount of money raised the association may request aid from the Federation Student Aid fund.

The Federation will devise a way for providing such a fund. The money for Student Aid in each Parent-Teacher association may be raised through school subscriptions and allowances from regular Parent Teacher association income. Each Parent Teacher association will be entitled to one representative on the student aid committee. The member will report conditions of funds and progress, to the student aid chairman of the council. It will be the duty of this representative to act with a teacher member in each school in the matter of student aid. It is understood that the school faculty member will investigate the case and will then either purchase or authorize the purchase of the article or articles.

All bills are to be signed by the faculty representative and presented at the following Parent Teacher association business meeting. The Parent Teacher association representative will report to the faculty representative the condition of the student aid treasury for that particular school.

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking a pill, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when a pill should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

STUDIO MURDER
MYSTERY
PLEASES

"Men, inherently resent assertive women!"

This theory of Frank Tuttle, Paramount director who recently completed work on the Paramount all-talking mystery drama "The Studio Murder Mystery" which will close tonight at the Fox-California theater results in women players in his productions having their screen speeches cut.

"I have noticed," said Tuttle, "that popular women rarely oppose men in conversation. Men it seems want women to be good listeners. In motion pictures we want to guard the romantic aura which should surround every female star. This cannot be maintained if these women overtalk especially if there is any trace of shrewishness."

"Above all a man's ideal of womanhood is an agreeable woman. To satisfy male audiences I believe that speaking lines of all lovely actresses should be censored to cater to the male psychology."

In preparing the dialog for "The Studio Murder Mystery" which he also directed for Paramount Tuttle followed this theory: "There is no difficulty in preserving naturalness and I feel sure that the lines which Doris Hill the heroine speaks will coincide with masculine ideals without appearing inane," he says.

Also on this bill is a talking picture—Clark and McClough "In Holland" and a Fox news.

L. A. RACKETEER
HURLS GRAFT
CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—UP

After making sensational charges of graft which involved 62 members of the Los Angeles police department, Harry D. McDonald, asserted racketeer, underwent a complete change of attitude late today and refused to talk further to newspapermen.

He was in conference throughout the day in the district attorney's office, having been summoned from the county jail, where he is held on a charge of liquor law violation.

Federal and county officials were tracing down his statements that police officers and criminals gathered in his camouflage bathhouse to arrange payoffs in notorious underworld cases. McDonald told authorities that he had heard "unsolved murder" cases discussed and their associated perpetrators named. He would not reveal them.

McDonald, who long boasted he was "the man who could not be arrested" in Los Angeles, apparently had shaken off his fear of underworld vengeance, today and retained Attorney Joe Palmer, who made an unsuccessful effort to have him released on bond.

Insanity Plea Hinted

It was thought that Palmer was responsible for McDonald's sudden reluctance to talk. McDonald said that he might plead not guilty by reason of insanity if he were taken into court on the bootlegging charge.

McDonald, who claims that he paid out $500,000 for protection in five years, said that the police officers who met underworld figures there, never lost a chance to raid his establishment when they knew he was in funds. He said they would hold out a pistol as a threat of court action, then make him buy the rest of the liquor bar.

Fits Investigates

District Attorney Burton Fitts took personal charge of the case when McDonald developed his silent streak. Fitts said he was checking reports that a man believed to be McDonald served a term in the federal prison at McNeil's island under the name of David Westman during the World war on a Mann Act charge.

McDonald, in refusing to make further revelations, told newspaper reporters that he "may have told them all the things they say I did, but I was suffering from the shock of the war." Fitts said he wanted to find out if McDonald was in the war or in prison.

Wrestles In Black Watch

VICTOR McLAGLEN, who is coming to the Fox-California Theater tomorrow, in "The Black Watch."

McLaglen Shows
Wrestling Knack
In Black Watch

Some years ago Victor McLaglen toured Canada and the United States with a vaudeville act in which he gave a wrestling exhibition with a partner and men all comers.

Much water has gone under the bridge since but McLaglen, Fox Films star, had a cut-back to the old days during the filming of the all-talking Fox Movietone production, "The Black Watch," when he was forced to engage in a wrestling match with Walter Long, in a most important sequence of the picture, "The Black Watch" is the next feature to come to the Fox-California theater starting tomorrow.

McLaglen had to bring into play all of his former well-known holds, for Long is an adept himself at the wrestling game and John Ford director a stickler for naturalness as well as art, demanded and got a finish bout. "The Black Watch" based on Talbot Mundy's story finds McLaglen in the stellar role of Captain Gordon King who is sent on a secret mission at the outbreak of the war and has to bear the humiliation of his comrades believing he had asked for the transfer to evade the real fighting.

Myrna Loy heads the supporting cast and the entire production is sound that the characters and the evolution of the story are both seen and heard. And to add additional laughter we have a talking comedy "The Crazy Nut" and a Fox talking news.

SLOAN FINAL RITES SET

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel here for R. C. Sloan, 53, of 456 Eighth street, who died at a Livermore hospital last week from the effects of injuries suffered in an auto accident. Sloan was hit by a speeding car as he stepped out of a friend's car to go to the assistance of another friend whose machine had broken down.

Sloan was removed to a hospital where he died yesterday morning.

Sloan, his wife and daughter and brother-in-law Perry Hoffman and another car of friends started for Fresno Saturday to spend the Labor Day holidays. One of the machines broke down and Sloan was preparing to assist the driver of the car when the accident occurred. The name of the driver who struck Sloan was not learned.

Sloan worked at the Standard Oil plant here for 27 years. He was an expert mechanic. He first came here in 1906 from Caledonia, Mo., his birthplace. He was an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Carrie J. Sloan and one daughter, Leota Lois, and several brothers and sisters.

INQUEST PENDS
IN BAY DEATH

An inquest into the death of Charles Colenaty 55, of 3355 Octavia street, San Francisco, will be conducted by Coroner Aubrey Wilson in the near future.

Colenaty drowned near the Winehaven docks Sunday while on a motor boat ride with his son, John, Jr., and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Colenaty, Jr.

Near the Winehaven docks, the boat sprung a leak and sank. Mrs. Colenaty was the only person in the party who could swim and she devoted her efforts in an attempt to save her father-in-law.

Young Colenaty was rescued by S. H. Cappelli, airplane inventor and manufacturer of El Cerrito.

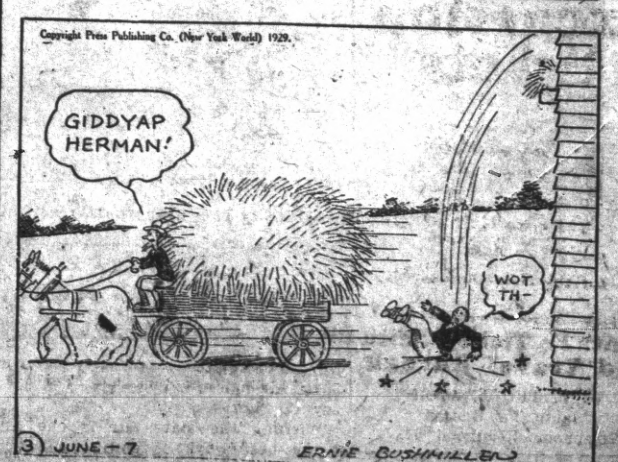

In spite of Mrs. Colenaty's efforts, Colenaty drowned. His body was recovered an hour later by Richmond firemen who arrived at the scene of the accident with an inhalator. Due to his long submersion they were unable to assist Colenaty.

Young Colenaty blamed the accident upon the unseaworthy boat.

GRAF SHATTERS OWN WORLD RECORD

the last previous flight when the dirigible was on its first leg of the globe circling tour. It had been in the air 62 hours, 15 minutes at 9:30 p. m., Tuesday night.

The Graf Zeppelin continuing its steady progress towards Germany passed over Limoges at 2:30 a. m. (8:30 p. m. EST), still flying in an easterly direction. It was at an altitude of about 1000 feet and the cabins were brightly lighted. The motors appeared to be functioning perfectly and it was making fast speed.

GRAF SPEEDS ALONG AT 85 MILES AN HOUR

PARIS, Sept. 3.—UP—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, its voyage across the Atlantic ocean prolonged by stormy weather, reached the coast of Spain this afternoon and sped along over the continent towards Friedrichshafen tonight at a speed of about 85 miles an hour.

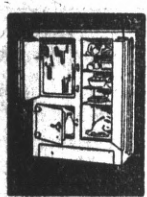

Visibility was poor and strong headwinds were reported in the region which lies before the Graf Zeppelin but it still can reach Friedrichshafen Wednesday morning in time to lower its own record for flight around the world by nearly a day.

After escaping storms in the Azores Islands area—where the big airship rolled heavily in the gale, Capt. Ernst Lehmann brought the Graf Zeppelin to land in the Bay of Biscay, a southern route which swung to the northern coast of Spain as he neared land. The Spanish coast was sighted at 4:30 p. m. (11:30 a. m. EST) the dirigible radioed to ships at sea.

An hour later the Graf Zeppelin had crossed Cape Finisterre and was sighted flying in the fog off the coast at Coruna at about 5:45 p. m. (12:40 p. m. EST). Captain Lehmann radioed that the weather reports being received at that time would determine whether he would cross the Gulf of Cascoy to Bordeaux, France, or fly south to the Pyrenees. He said the passengers were elated to sight land after the long flight over sea.

Just before the impact might have been partly responsible for the wreck as a collision would have been averted if the San Juan could have gone 75 feet further. The second mate and third engineer of the San Juan, August Olson and John McCarthy, respectively, also went to the witness stand before the hearing was continued until Wednesday. McCarthy was given a hero's medal when the steamer Queen was burned off the Oregon coast in 1924 and he played a prominent part in saving lives.

Panic Denied

Three witnesses denied that there was a panic among sailors of the San Juan. They said the fact that more passengers were listed among the victims than members of the crew was due to the fact that midnight watches were being changed and most of the sailors were on deck.

"It was not a matter of four or five minutes before the ship sank," Tulce testified. "It was a matter of only a few seconds."

The first witness tomorrow will probably be Harry Wade, a passenger of the San Juan who holds papers of a ship's engineer.

Passengers who were among the 42 survivors were asked by the federal inspectors today to make written reports of their experiences if they desired.

Lions Club To Help In Aid Of Crippled Tots

The Richmond Lions yesterday voted to cooperate with the Crockett Lions club in plans to make effective in this county the activities of the state law extending aid to crippled children.

E. C. Wells of the Crockett club, told the local den that by securing the cooperation of all the Lions clubs in the county it would be possible to make better provision for Contra Costa county's crippled children.

David M. Rose, auto dealer, was welcomed as a new member. Dan Reardon gave a report on a recent visit to the Concord club and Art Paris, secretary of the club, told of a recent meeting in San Francisco. C. E. Clark, vice president of the County Boy Scout council, called upon the club for more attention to the needs of the club's Scout troop.

Inhalator Saves Life Of Child

Blair Smith, 16 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith, 419 Twelfth street, was saved by the prompt action of Dr. L. St. John Hely on Monday.

The child had been playing near the bathtub and in some manner fell into the tub.

Taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital, Dr. Hely used an inhalator on the child and in a few minutes the infant commenced normal breathing and was returned home.

P. G. E. VICTOR IN RICHMOND GAS WAR

competes with and possibly to supersede oil. Properly introduced and distributed it holds out promise of increased industrial development.

Straight Gas Ordered

As a condition of the permit granted the Pacific Gas and Electric company, the commission directs the company to serve straight natural gas instead of mixed artificial and natural gas within a year. This means that consumers will get gas nearly twice as high in heating value as that distributed at present.

Both Carr and Seavey, in their dissenting opinions, made it clear that the element of rates does not enter into the controversy between the two gas companies, and that the element of competition is slight.

The Western Natural gas company asked permission to bring pipelines from Fresno county to Richmond and for permission to wholesale it to present distributing companies.

Broad Questions

This was a case for decision on broad questions of public welfare and interest," Carr declared in his opinion. Carr summarized his objections by saying:

"The bringing of a natural resource like gas from a distant field where produced to the place of use should not be monopolized in the absence of plain and convincing evidence that the public will be better served by a single mandatory. The record does not contain evidence of this character."

Ready Availability of This Resource

At the gates of the bay area will tend to increase its use—and end to be desired in view of the public policy of the state respecting the prevention of wastage of natural gas. Natural gas is a vital lifting agency in the production of petroleum. Its free and extensive use will facilitate and fit in with the sane and orderly conduct of the industry of this state while tending to stop the blowing of gas into the air and its consequent wastage.

Market For Gas

"The weight of the evidence in this record is that there is a market for natural gas in the bay area which, if not unduly restricted, will justify the construction and operation of the lines constructed and proposed by the Pacific company and the line proposed by the western company. The Pacific company is primarily interested in the service of its domestic consumers. Purchasing gas for industrial fuel will be of secondary importance. Shut-off schedules will doubtless prevail to a considerable extent. The evidence indicates that a properly developed industrial market will call for more gas than the domestic and household. Western Company under its general plan will be interested primarily in supplying the industrial market. Considering the importance to the public of industrial development it is reasonable to conclude that there should be at least one line concerned primarily with the service of industries, and the development of industrial uses of natural gas. In this way there should be a more balanced and healthy development of gas confined to a company the primary interest and obligation of which is the service of its domestic and household consumers, and to which industrial uses would be important chiefly to absorb its excess gas."

Additional Assurance

"An additional pipe line from the field to the bay area will give added assurance of the permanency of the supply of natural gas. A single line has elements of risk which are obviated when a second line is available. So far as the present record is concerned, the Pacific Company does not propose a second line from the source of supply but merely a branch tapping its present line 42 miles from the source. The Western Company offers to furnish some standby service to the Pacific Company's domestic business."

"A second pipe line dedicated to public utility service with public authority having some jurisdiction to require interconnections and the like will better subserve the public interest than will a series of non-utility lines entering the field. While this commission has the authority to prevent a second utility line coming to this territory, I doubt if it can prevent a non-utility service such as would result if large users of gas like the oil refineries should contract with some agency to transport their own gas from the field to the place of use."

Avoid Duplication

"Allowing the Western Natural Gas company to build a line to the bay area does not mean that the railroad commission will relinquish all supervision over the local distribution of gas. This should be controlled to the end that needless duplication of local facilities be avoided and without reason, that inequity does not result to existing utilities. As the Western Company proposes only a wholesaling business it is unlikely any serious question in this respect will arise. It should, I think, be permitted to serve the Standard Oil company's refinery as contracted for and probably other oil refineries. Such service is essentially the mere transportation of the oil company's gas to their respective refineries. If the Coast Counties system can be used as an agency for serving the various industries within its general territory it should be so used. If it is unable to deliver purchased natural gas so as to successfully compete with oil and other fuels it should give way to someone who can. It would be no worse off than it is now, because it does not have this business at the present time."

City Clerk Alice Morris was granted a two weeks' vacation by the council starting Sept. 5.

The council of El Cerrito will meet Thursday evening at 7 o'clock as a committee to discuss the framing of a second hand automobile ordinance. Chief of Police R. R. Cheek was instructed to notify the garagemen and second-hand auto dealers to attend the meeting to discuss the ordinance.

Street Commissioner Phil A. Lee and City Engineer Ross L. Calfee were appointed as a committee to meet with City Engineer E. A. Hoffman of Richmond to discuss plans for the improving of the west side of San Pablo avenue. The work will have to be done in conjunction with Richmond as the street is in El Cerrito and will have to be paid for by the property owners facing the street who are in Richmond.

Date for the election of the annexation of the territory in the Richmond Annex District was set for Nov. 4 by the council.

The district to be annexed is on the west side of San Pablo avenue near the county line and is bounded by Avilla street and the county line on the north and south and San Pablo avenue and the Southern Pacific railroad tracks on the east and west.

A roller, scraper and scarifier was ordered purchased by the council at a cost of $3250.

Street Commissioner Phil A. Lee reported that $4708 had been spent for the renting of such equipment in the last two years and that the city would save money by the purchase.

Contract for the improving of portions of streets in the Richmond Junction and Richmond Junction Heights tracts with pavement, curbs and gutters was awarded by the council to Peres and Gatto of Richmond for $19,514.25. The estimate for the work as submitted by City Engineer Ross L. Calfee was $25,000.

Other bids received for the improvement were, Hutchinson company, $20,097.57; Fred Meyers, $22,640.05; Lee J. Immel $23,778.20; U. B. Lee $22,570.75 and L. L. Page $22,440.47.

Protect Your Furniture

A $125 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.
